THE Numb. 526.

VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Thurſday Auguſt 21, to Thurſday Auguſt 28, 1746.

DUBLIN, April 10.

To his Excellency Philip Earl of Cheſterfield, Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governor of Ireland,
The Humble Addreſs of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, attend your Excellency this Day, to congratulate you on the approaching happy Concluſion of the Seſſion, and to expreſs our entire Satisfaction in your Conduct in every Part of it, as well as in the Courſe of your whole Adminiſtration.

We eſteem it a very ſignal Inſtance of his Majeſty's Care and Concern for his moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, that he was pleaſed to ſend your Excellency to preſide over us, at a Time which required a Perſon of the moſt diſtinguiſhed Talents to hold the Reins of Government, and which has given your Excellency ſo frequent Occaſions of exerting thoſe Talents for the Service of his Majeſty, by providing effectually for the Peace and Security of this Kingdom.

The happy Effects we have ſeen and feel; while almoſt every other Part of Europe has been fill'd with Arms, and our neighbouring Kingdom has been vexed and harraſs'd by an impious and obſtinate Rebellion, we have enjoyed undiſturb'd Tranquility: Your Excellency's Prudence and ſteady Conduct guarding us with unwearied Care from all real Danger, and the abſolute Confidence of all Orders and Degrees of Men in your Vigilance, Wiſdom, and calm Firmneſs, baniſhing or moderating all anxious Fears and Apprehenſions. It is ſcarce poſſible for a People to be ſo bleſs'd, without being moved on every Occaſion to the ſtrongeſt Profeſſions of dutiful Affection to his Majeſty, who under God has been the Cauſe, and of Gratitude to your Excellency, the glorious Inſtrument, of ſo great publick Happineſs.

But we chuſe not to indulge ourſelves in ſuch Profeſſions; we deſire your Excellency may judge of us, as you have directed us to judge of you, by our Actions; ſhould they at any Time fall ſhort of what the warmeſt Sentiments of Loyalty and Veneration are apt to inſpire, your Excellency, whom with the utmoſt Pleaſure we have obſerved ever attentive, even to the moſt minute Concerns of this Kingdom, and therefore know to be thoroughly acquainted with the State of it in all its Parts, will, we humbly hope, impute this to the true Cauſe: Permit us with all Humility juſt to intimate, that if by your Excellency's free and candid Report to his Majeſty, of our Condition and Circumſtances, we ſhould in more quiet Times receive any Acceſſion of Strength, Wealth, or Power, we ſhall conſider ſuch Acceſſion as valuable, chiefly on this Account, that it will enable us on all future Occaſions, to exert ourſelves more vigorouſly and effectually in Defence of his Majeſty's ſacred Perſon and Government, the only ſure Support of our religious and civil Rights, againſt foreign and domeſtick Violence, againſt the ambitious Attempts of the great Diſturbers of Mankind Abroad, and the Madneſs of rebellious deluded Subjects at Home.

Theſe, my Lord, are our Sentiments, and not ours only, but thoſe of all his Majeſty's Proteſtant Subjects of Ireland; may your Excellency return to cultivate and improve them in us, and continue long in Ornament to your own Country, and a Bleſſing to this Nation.

To which Addreſs his Excellency was pleaſed to give this Anſwer.

My Lords,

I Return you my ſincereſt Thanks for this Addreſs. Could any Thing add, for the future, to my Endeavours or Wiſhes for the Intereſt and Proſperity of this Kingdom, it would be your kind, your partial Approbation of my paſt Conduct.

To His Excellency Philip Earl of Cheſterfield, Lord Lieutenant General, and General Governor of Ireland,
The Humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

WE, the Commons of Ireland, in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave to expreſs our ſincere and unanimous Senſe of the Benefits which we have received from your Excellency's mild and prudent Adminiſtration.

His Majeſty's gracious Acceptance of the Duty and Loyalty of his Subjects in this Kingdom, has been particularly manifeſted by his committing them to your Excellency's Care, in ſo critical a Juncture, when your Zeal for the preſent happy Eſtabliſhment was of more immediate Importance to our Security, and your eminent Abilities could be the moſt effectually exerted for our Service.

Thoſe uncommon Talents, by which your Excellency has been moſt juſtly diſtinguiſhed, and which did in all Times excite our Admiration, muſt now more ſenſibly affect us, when we have ſeen them, through your whole Adminiſtration, ſo invariably directed, and employ'd with ſo unwearied an Application, to ſupport the Dignity of his Majeſty's Crown, and to promote the true Intereſt of his People.

As upon the firſt Appearance of the Rebellion in Scotland, our Zeal for his Majeſty animated us with a juſt Reſentment and Indignation; and as our Concern for the Preſervation of our Rights and Liberties, ſo dear to the Proteſtants of this Kingdom, could not but raiſe in our Minds ſome unquiet Apprehenſions; we were ready, as we ſhall ever be, chearfully to concur in all proper Meaſures, and to exert our utmoſt Strength for the Defence of the King's Government, and the Support of your Excellency's Authority under him. And we do now, with equal Chearfulneſs and with the utmoſt Gratitude, acknowledge, that the profound Tranquility, which, without any extraordinary Increaſe of publick Expence, we of this Nation have hitherto enjoy'd, has been the Reſult of a wiſe and vigilant Adminiſtration over us: An Adminiſtration formed upon the Principles, and carried on by the uniform Exerciſe, of Lenity without Remiſſneſs, and of Firmneſs without Severity.

We receive it as a peculiar Mark of your Excellency's Regard, that when your Aſſiſtance at his Majeſty's Councils, in this Time of the moſt arduous and extenſive Deliberations there, muſt have been ſo neceſſary, you have ſeemed to conſider the Buſineſs of this Kingdom, as the principal Object of your Attention. Upon this Account we might think it almoſt ſuperfluous to add to our Requeſt, that your Excellency would, on your Return, repreſent us in the moſt favourable Manner to his Majeſty, ſince our Experience of your paſt Conduct muſt ſufficiently aſſure us of the Continuance of the ſame good Diſpoſitions towards us, and as we are moſt firmly perſuaded, that your Preſence has not been more conducive to our Safety now, than your Influence will hereafter be to our Proſperity.

To which Addreſs his Excellency was pleaſed to return the Anſwer following.

I Think myſelf happy, that my Endeavours to do my Duty, have met with your Approbation.

Had I as effectually promoted, as I have ſincerely wiſhed, the Intereſt and Proſperity of this Kingdom, I could not have expected a kinder Return, nor a more honourable Teſtimony than I give you my hearty Thanks for it, and aſſure the Effect it ought to have upon my Mind.

Dublin, April 11. His Excellency this Day to the Houſe of Peers, and t with the uſual Ceremony, his Ex

WILLIAMSBURG, Auguſt 28.

The Gentlemen of Hanover County, being deſirous of following the Example of Williamſburg, Norfolk, Suffolk, and other Places, in expreſſing their Joy and Loyalty, on Occaſion of the Defeat of the Rebels in Scotland, voluntarily raiſed a Sum of Money, for making a Publick Entertainment; which was appointed to be at Newcaſtle, Yeſterday was Se'nnight: Accordingly, that Day, a great Number of Gentlemen and Ladies, Inhabitants of that and the adjacent Counties, met at the Houſe of Mr. Waters; where a handſome Dinner was provided; a long Arbour was ſet up, in which 50 Gentlemen and Ladies din'd, and ſeveral other Tables were full, in the Houſe. After Dinner, the Healths of the King, Prince and Princeſs of Wales, the Duke of Cumberland, and the reſt of the Royal Family, Succeſs to his Majeſty's Arms, the Governor and Proſperity to Virginia, &c. were chearfully drank in the beſt of Liquors. A large Quantity of Punch was given to the Populace; and at each Health there was a Volley of ſmall Arms diſcharged, and Three chearfull Huzza's at each Volley. A large Bonfire was made in the Evening, and the Windows of the Loyaliſts in Town were illuminated. The Ladies were entertained with Dancing; and the Evening concluded with the utmoſt Demonſtrations of Loyalty, and all was conducted with Decency and good Order. There never was ſeen ſuch a Concourſe of People at that Place, on any Occaſion; and the hearty Zeal and unaffected Joy which appear'd in general, was ſufficient to put the few (ſuppoſ'd to be) diſaffected, quite out of Countenance.

SIR;

WHEN you have Room, pleaſe to inſert the following Piece in your Paper, and you will oblige the Author, who, tho' no Poet, is a hearty Friend to the preſent Eſtabliſhment, and your very humble Servant,

MISOJACOBITON.

A BALLAD,

To the Tune of Chevy Chaſe.

GOD proſper long our noble King,
Our Lives and Safeties all;
A bloody Battle there did once
At Culloden befal.

a Tool of Rome and France,
Tales;
d forſooth,
f Wales.

I ween,
rſe;
Dad,
ce.

The Highland Lairds, a Rebel Crew,
Club'd ev'ry one his Clan;
And ſwore they'd own no earthly Prince,
If Jemmy wa'n't the Man.

They pitch'd on Charly for their Chief,
As being Jemmy's Son;
Like him in Conduct he excell'd,
And would all Danger ſhun.

In mighty Heat they march'd about,
With Target, Sword, and Dirk:
At Preſton they encounter'd Cope,
And beat him with a Jerk.

A Party too of Royaliſts
On Falkirk-Green they met;
And worſted them, for troth their Guns
Were with the Rain all wet.

Puff'd up with theſe half Victories,
They thought the World their own;
And ſcorn'd to live on homely Grout,
As they before had done.

But CUMBERLAND, that warlike Duke,
Soon brought their Stomachs down;
He hem'd them up, until raw Cale
A Rarity was grown.

The Fear of ſtarving brought them out,
Their Fate in Arms to try:
It was no Time to dally now,
For they muſt or fight, die.

Young Charles now poſted in the Midſt,
The Reaſon's very clear;
He now might either fight or fly,
Prompted by Rage or Fear.

They fir'd their Piſtols at the Foe,
When ſcarcely in their View;
Then brandiſhing their truſty Swords,
Like Lyons on they flew.

The Battle now in cloſe Array
Was join'd on either Side,
The Smoak and Duſt in Clouds aroſe,
The Ground with Blood was dy'd.

The Rebels guarded with the Targe
Their Left Sides, in the Fight;
But the fell Bayonet's keen Point
Now gor'd them in the Right.

They paus'd a while, quite unprepar'd
For ſuch uncommon Play:
Their Men fell thick, their Ranks at Length
Were broken, and gave Way.

Charly march'd off ſoon as he found
The Rebel Van was beat;
For you muſt know he was a Dab,
At timing a Retreat.

Brave Gardner's Steed reluctant bore
Th' Italian from the Fight:
His former Lord had never us'd
To ſave his Life by Flight.

Shift for yourſelves, my Boys, he cries,
D—l take the hindmoſt Man;
My Part is done, I've brought you on,
Get off e'en as you can.

Now Heaps on Heaps confus'd they fly,
Struck with a pannick Dread;
Whilſt Kingſton's Horſe, more fleet than they,
Laid Hundreds of them dead.

The briſk Monſieurs that came from France,
To head this Rebel herd,
Griev'd ſore Parbleau to ſee them maul'd,
But to their Aid ne'er ſtir'd.

Soon

Soon as the Battle ceas'd, they threw
Their Arms upon the Ground;
And gave themſelves up Priſoners,
With Congee moſt profound.

Learn Rebels hence, how vain it is T'encounter hardy Bands
Of ſuch brave Men, in ſuch a Cauſe,
When ſuch a Chief commands.

Throw down the Target and the Sword,
And own yourſelves outdone;
For b'lieve me Jemmy ne'er will ſit
Upon the Britiſh Throne.

If he, or Lewis, e'er ſhould prompt
You to rebel again,
Take my Advice, beg their Excuſe,
And think on Culloden.

A CAP for the Hanover Cap-maker, who has got the Knack of Inoculation.

Reſervation.

IN Phedrus' Days, when Frogs could ſpeak,
A Frog, remark'd in ev'ry Lake
For ſecret Envy, ſullen Pride,
By Chance a ſtately Bullock ſpy'd,
That all the Sweets of Life enjoy'd:
The Thing of Mud who oft eſſay'd,
To drive him from the verdant Mead,
Aſſembled ev'ry croaking Gueſt,
To rob him of his nightly Reſt;
Try'd ev'ry other Art, in vain,
To give the Ox one Moment's Pain:
To gratify her Rage ſtill bent,
Fell on this ſad Experiment;
Reſolv'd to equal him in Size,
Two puffing Swells ſhe vainly tries,
And in the Third, ſhe burſts and dies.
Thus Milo ſwol'n in native Spleen,
Envy'ing a well known happy Man,
On Falſhood builds his rancour'd Scheme,
In Hopes to blaſt untainted Fame;
Collecting ev'ry croaking Sound,
By Heſitation ſtrives to wound.
Whilſt he who ſeldom takes Offence,
At Blockheads ſixt in ev'ry Tence,
Lives unconcern'd upon his Hill,
And laughs to ſcorn th' invidious Toil:
With double Fury Milo burns,
'Til on himſelf the Miſchief turns;
In Paſſion wretched, curſt in Taſte,
He ſwells a Frog, and burſts at laſt.

We have no Ship lately arriv'd, nor any News of Conſequence by the laſt Poſt. We can't learn with any Certainty what is become of the Breſt Fleet; but it is reported they are return'd to Breſt. We hear, the 2 French Men of War that were landing Men in Scotland, after the Battle at Culloden, are taken. It is ſaid, but without Certainty, that the Dutch have agreed to a Neutrality.
